"Community Media Visioning Session"
Tuesday April 29th at 5:30pm

Access Humboldt and the Humboldt Film and Digital Media Commission will host a "visioning session" to gather input and engage local media producers in the development of Access Humboldt's Community Media Center at Eureka High School. Visioning for next generation digital media access will be followed by a tour of the future facilities, and refreshments will be served.

Mary Cruse, Humboldt Film and Digital Media Commissioner said, "the future for our digital media industry in Humboldt is going to be built upon the skills, talents and shared vision of our community - so please come join us and share your ideas." Access Humboldt's Executive Director Sean McLaughlin added, "We're inviting local media makers to help us design and build our next generation digital media resources."

Access Humboldt's planned Community Media Center will house a high definition recording studio and a range of digital media production resources for the community - from beginners to advanced professionals.

The visioning session will include a brief presentation by Digital Media Manager Jessemyn Reid and other experts reporting on the latest developments unveiled at the recent National Association of Broadcasters' (NAB) conference. Looking at trends and the newest broadcasting technologies available, attendees will brainstorm and share ideas for next generation digital media, and conclude with a tour of the Community Media Center site, Hors d'oeuvres, and an opportunity for networking.

Come share your ideas of what is needed to produce quality local programming and meet other local media makers. The Community Media Visioning Session will take place on Tuesday April 29th from 5:30 P.M. to 7:30 P.M. in the IT Building Lecture Hall on the Eureka High school campus. The IT building is located next to the gymnasium. This is a free event, open to the public.
